I am totally against having a storage facility at Yucca Mountain. Nevada isn't the desolate state most people believe it to be. There are many people living throught the area as well as a very diverse population of animals and vegitaion. ALL would be at risk if a leak developes in the storage system. There is NOT enough information available to show that it is safe! In fact what information is available shows that is will NOT be safe. The ONLY people who maintain it is safe are the people who don't want it in their own states!!!! That is NOT science! It has been shown that the waste recepticals WILL break down at some point. Then you will have leakage into the ground water which will at some point wind up in our drinking water! That is UNEXCEPTABLE! In a perfect world we would have never even MADE ANY waste untill we could handle what to do with it. But this is far from a perfect world. Now we have this waste and have to do something. But rushing into this Yucca Mountain storage will just comp

Thank you,

Tamara Thompson
